1	More options for future conventions to partake in off campus sessions. Hands on skill training. Use these 2 days to further develop my PD with IPGP's	3/5/2015 9:57 AM
2	I had trouble printing the sessions for a paper copy.	3/4/2015 12:31 PM
3	Access was a bit frustrating - moving back and forth among pages and through pages	3/3/2015 8:24 AM
4	I couldn't and still can't find information about the Keynotes... I really really liked the mobile app though! But, again, I couldn't find anything about the keynotes. I had to use a lot of data to access the site. Can the convention center give teachers internet access for those two days if everything is going to be on-line from now on? (I can never find my way around, so I often found maps online!)	3/2/2015 11:30 AM
5	I didn't like how the sched worked. I had to click on each session to see what it was about, and to see the target audience. It made looking for sessions to be very time consuming. It would be better to be able to see the title, target audience and a short description. I did like the ability to make my own schedule. Having a link to a printed program to view on a device would be helpful.	3/2/2015 11:18 AM

6	Very streamlined and not a lot of clutter. Easy to navigate. A note about schedule.org: a reminder to check your junk mail for your e-mailed schedule would have been nice. I printed mine out and only checked my junk mail after convention was over. D'oh!	3/1/2015 10:33 PM
7	Even though it is important to have digital access to sessions, I appreciated the fact that a schedule could be printed off. I used the "sched" but the app was not downloading on my phone and I am not sure what happened. However, I appreciated that I could still scroll to see the different sessions. I just could not save a schedule to organize my day.	3/1/2015 8:29 PM
8	I couldn't find a map of the convention centre on the site.	2/28/2015 4:38 PM
9	I could not find maps on your website; this I found extremely detrimental. Either they are not included or not prominent.	2/27/2015 11:33 AM
10	Maybe it's my ineptitude with technology, but I could not initially find a printable version of the schedule, so I used a colleague's and photocopied it. Later, I saw the links to what I wanted. The same holds true for these evaluations. I went to a place where it said a link would be, and there was no link there. It would be helpful to those of us for whom technology is our "2nd or 3rd language", for a person like me to "test-drive" the web-site when it is being set-up, before Convention! You know... the "lowest common denominator!"	2/26/2015 4:58 PM
11	I liked having my personal schedule on my phone.	2/26/2015 4:46 PM
12	found it extremely difficult to view sessions on a mobile device and I didn't have it printed off.	2/26/2015 2:25 PM
13	I found it hard sometimes to navigate the sessions... I would ask for a specific time and it would bring up sessions from different days at that time.	2/26/2015 1:43 PM
14	It was not clear that the first two sessions of Thursday were keynotes. That might be made bold or larger or some mention made of it next year.	2/26/2015 12:41 PM
15	I like not having paper copies!	2/26/2015 9:59 AM
16	+ Sessions - at a glance as well as detailed layouts + Venue maps + Information re: accommodations	2/25/2015 10:57 PM
17	Found list of sessions hard to read this year until printable version came out	2/25/2015 8:55 PM
18	Tough to look at sessions. Maybe create a overall glimpse form here. (Unless I missed it)	2/25/2015 4:12 PM
19	I only used the site to do these evaluations. The fluidsurvey system for session evaluations was slick, keep using it!	2/25/2015 3:56 PM
20	With Sched.org, a mobile friendly website, etc., I think it would be prudent from an environmental and cost perspective that you continue to promote these tools and perhaps recommend some mobile apps (such as GoodReader and Adobe) that allow delegates to access and refer to the program on their devices. That said, perhaps you continue to have a PDF form for those that are still wishing the option to print it themselves. However, I am hoping that individuals are beginning to move away from this.	2/25/2015 1:01 PM
21	LOVED the APP = so useful and easy to navigate. But was only made aware of it last minute by a colleague.	2/25/2015 12:50 PM
22	I found the initial way the sessions were listed too lengthy. I also missed not having a printable map since I was not highly familiar with the location.	2/25/2015 12:37 PM
23	Liked the interactive but still had to print it as I'm not a smart phone user.	2/25/2015 11:27 AM
24	Could info be a little more obvious? ie. finding the eval form was a bit confusing; it did not stand out	2/25/2015 11:24 AM
25	Tough to navigate, the mobile view was much more user friendly than the website.	2/25/2015 11:07 AM
26	I would have appreciated being able to link my interested sessions together in a basket for reference. I refuse to pay $25 per day for wifi access in addition to convention costs already incurred.	2/25/2015 10:02 AM
27	I really enjoyed Mark R's session on ATA president update. He spoke very well and was honest with his information. I enjoyed it a lot!	2/25/2015 9:29 AM
28	see above	2/25/2015 8:27 AM
29	I appreciated the printable schedules on the website. It was annoying to have to scroll all the way down on the sched.org site to get to the Friday sessions.	2/24/2015 10:22 PM
30	Finding the schedules didn't seem as intuitive as it could have been.	2/24/2015 8:52 PM

31	I loved the ability to use 'sched.org' I downloaded the information to my phone and knew exactly where I was going and where it was. I was easily able to browse sessions and choose the ones that I wanted to attend by many different means. Can't say enough about the convenience and the ease of use. Please continue with it next year!!!	2/24/2015 8:24 PM
32	It is great but not having wifi limits my use of it during convention and I seem to struggle with sched.org.	2/24/2015 4:36 PM
33	This year's app needed to have a map included.	2/24/2015 4:00 PM
34	color coding is poor. hard copy is easier to navigate	2/24/2015 11:55 AM
35	Finding session Power-points is difficult.	2/24/2015 11:44 AM
36	Would have appreciated the sessions at a glance earlier.	2/24/2015 11:06 AM
37	I could never find the buttons to "click here" when I was a presenter for information.	2/24/2015 8:57 AM
38	A mobe app like calgary convention?	2/24/2015 8:18 AM
39	It was hard to use and terrible for finding sessions on the mobile site. There was no option listed for changing or canceling a pre-registration. The session descriptions were often misleading, especially when it was commercial vendors selling products. As well, some of the most qualified presenters and powerful sessions were buried and not shown effectively in the program. I would not have gone to Dylan Williams sessions if he hadn't been recommended, and I'm not sure why he wasn't a keynote.	2/24/2015 8:13 AM
40	easy to use website. Thank you. I like Sched.	2/24/2015 6:52 AM
41	Ease of use and had all info there that you needed.	2/24/2015 5:50 AM
42	I prefer the hard copy of the session schedule and had difficulty using the website to determine which sessions that I wanted to go to. I ended up printing a hard copy and using that.	2/23/2015 10:10 PM
43	prefer paper based	2/23/2015 9:57 PM
44	I found it tough to find out when sessions where going on. It was tough to pre-requester.	2/23/2015 9:52 PM
45	Lots of pages to scroll	2/23/2015 9:39 PM
46	Very easy to use and loved how it synced to my calendar	2/23/2015 9:38 PM
47	Was difficult to scan through the presentation listings initially. When the excel version came out in the few days before the conference, it was much easier to read and figure out what to go and see.	2/23/2015 9:30 PM
48	great website set up	2/23/2015 9:14 PM
49	the Sched.org is more cumberson then I expected.	2/23/2015 9:09 PM
50	Overall very good. One suggestion would be tabs/headings/subcategories of content. Social sciences/science/math/psychology/math/cts etc	2/23/2015 7:39 PM
51	Do not like having to use my phone during the convention or having to print pages off. Still miss the booklet	2/23/2015 4:36 PM
52	Schedule. Or was useless on my android phone.	2/23/2015 10:16 AM
53	I didn't like that the mobile option would always default back to the very beginning of the list.	2/23/2015 8:17 AM
54	I hate the fact that I now have to do extra prep work just to attend convention. I had to print off the days at a glance so that I would be able to prepare for where to go. The bracelet is useless and did not come out of the package. Please provide a printed schedule of sessions and rooms.	2/22/2015 10:30 PM
55	I prefer the book. It is easier to access session info if you need to switch sessions because one is full. Not everyone has 3G.	2/22/2015 4:40 PM
56	The information provided was thorough.	2/22/2015 1:09 PM
57	Schedule. Or didn't work well on my Samsung phone	2/22/2015 11:40 AM
58	Schedule. Or was useless on my android phone.	2/22/2015 11:38 AM
59	Schedule. Or was useless on my android phone.	2/22/2015 11:37 AM
60	I find it to be a user-friendly website and it has all the info you need about convention.	2/22/2015 10:54 AM

61	The Ed Camp sessions need specific issues and early notification to teachers by schools to go and discuss relevant issues.	2/22/2015 10:32 AM
62	I really prefer a booklet.	2/20/2015 9:00 PM
63	I liked the filters this year.	2/20/2015 7:26 PM
64	The links are in small print rather than buttons making it difficult to navigate on your phone	2/20/2015 5:01 PM
65	I really appreciated the filters when looking through the program. They made it very easy to find things. Everything you need is on the website and I don't even miss the booklet anymore.	2/20/2015 4:08 PM
66	App worked well, so did PDF versions of schedules to print, and session material links are appreciated.	2/20/2015 4:02 PM
67	I was frustrated with the way the different sessions were initially on the website. Having to go from page to page was very frustrating. I saw this morning that you had put a link for a printable version of the session descriptions, but that wasn't available when I went on to pre-register for a session. I did appreciate the printable session overview for each day.	2/20/2015 2:46 PM
68	Maps showing room locations and a way to search for specific presenters within the sessions outline would be great.	2/20/2015 7:03 AM
69	loved the on-line schedule at a glance!	2/19/2015 9:37 PM
70	The detailed session at a glance is good but separate into 2 days (2 links) so there aren't so many pages to go through to get to Friday. The session filter is good but can you also add an option to see all of Thursday or all of Friday too - not just by specific time slots.	2/19/2015 5:37 PM
